

A few more answers for Unemployment.

Louisiana should have the programming completed this weekend to pay the Monetarily Ineligible and Exhausted claims. Keep filing your weekly certifications. THIS GOES FOR ALL STATES! They can't read your mind and won't pay you if you don't file a weekly. Always be sure to say yes to those items that ask if you were available for work.

If you are still in a limbo or are not getting paid and don't know why, please email me. We have run into the issue of some things we thought we had fixed, didn't fix correctly, so we have to go back into them again. I usually try to double check before I tell you they are cleared, but they don't always tell me the issue has been corrected.

If you have not opened a claim yet, you should do so today or tomorrow so you can get paid for this week. Please let me know so I can help you through it. Please don't feel like a burden. It is much faster for me to put it in than it is to have to try to fix it and gather everything we need to try to fix it. I probably have everything we need in our database and you will just need to be sure to have your license and bank account information so we can set up direct deposit. – I still have a list of about 15 people we are working through and I check them a couple of times a day.

Rebel Ridge and Blood Relative – or anyone who has a relief check they should have claimed on a weekly – feel free to ask if you even need to claim it.

If you received payments for relief pay, you should list in your weekly certification that you received a BONUS. You will need to send me the paystubs, your login and password so I can get it routed for compliance release. I will happily file the weekly for you since we need all the information to verify the bonus pay anyway. If you had already filed your weekly claim for 5/2 when you received these checks, don't fret. File it when you do the weekly next week.

Filing BONUS should stop the issues of having to reopen claims. Severance and Earnings definitely cause these issues.

Here's what your screens should look like. The Red TEXT are my comments, and will show up on the screen -

And what the details should look like.

Have a great weekend. And be sure to email me if you need some help!
